

National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment

Gale force westerly winds will funnel into the Bristol Channel from early on Sunday morning, reaching severe gale force in some coastal areas. Driving conditions may be difficult at times along some exposed routes, especially for caravans and other high-sided vehicles.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Wind

Valid from 08:00 on Sun, 29th Mar 2015 until 14:00 on Sun, 29th Mar 2015

Strong winds will affect many southern areas on Sunday. In particular, severe gales are likely through the Bristol Channel during the morning, with gusts of 60 to 65 mph affecting some coastal areas of South Wales and south west England. The strongest winds will ease again by mid-afternoon.

The public should be aware of the risk of disruption to transport.
